

Rick

“Oh my god guys. I’ve just remembered that it's my mom's birthday today. I haven't bought her anything. What am I going to do?”

Tina

“Aww please help me. I saw my boss' wife kissing another man in the street yesterday. I didn't say anything. I just crossed the road and walked away. Did I do the right thing? What am I going to do now?”

Brenda

“So the baby is due in two weeks and we still haven't thought of a name for her. My mother wants me to name it after my grandmother but his mother wants me to name it after her. I don't know what to do to be honest.”

If a baby is due in two weeks, it will be born in two weeks.

Gary

“I know it looks bad mate. My new girlfriend hit me. I fell down the stairs but she punched me in the eye first. Then she kicked me. But I really like her and she's gorgeous. She apologised so I think it's OK. What do you think?”

To punch = to hit someone with a closed fist.

Clare

“So, I've been offered a new job. It's everything I've always wanted. I'll earn more money and it will be amazing experience. The only problem is it's in Florida. Now that I'm married and have a child I don't know if moving to America is a good idea. What do you think?”

Brian

“So, I have a huge problem. I got a phone call from my kid's school yesterday. They caught him selling drugs. I don't know what to do. I shouted at him and I slapped him on the back of the head but I don't know if it helped. What would you do?”
